Additionally, we receive commissioning datasets from NHS Digital and through local data flows in anonymised or pseudonymised form. - where a public inquiry requires the information

We will also share information if the public good outweighs your right to confidentiality. This could include:

- where a serious crime has been committed

- to protect children or vulnerable adults

We may also process your information in order to de-identify it, so that it can be used for purposes beyond your individual care, whilst maintaining your confidentiality. These purposes will include to comply with the law and for public interest reasons.

If we send information outside of the UK or European Economic Area (EEA), we will explain this within the Processing Activities section of this notice.

What is our lawful basis for using information?

Personal information

Under the UK General Data Protection Regulation (UK GDPR), we may rely on one of the following Article 6 legal bases when processing personal data:

(a) We have your consent - this must be freely given, specific, informed and unambiguous.

(b) We have a contractual obligation - between a person and a service, such as a service user and privately funded care home.

(c) We have a legal obligation - the law requires us to do this, for example where NHS England or the courts use their powers to require the data. See this list for the most likely laws that apply when using and sharing information in health and care.

(e) We need it to perform a public task - a public body, such as an NHS organisation or Care Quality Commission (CQC) registered social care organisation, is required to undertake particular activities by law. See this list for the most likely laws that apply when using and sharing information in health and care.

(f) We have a legitimate interest - for example, a private care provider making attempts to resolve an outstanding debt for one of its service users.

Please see a breakdown of the processing activities that we undertake at Appendix 1 of this Privacy Notice; this identifies the Article 6 legal basis for specific ICB functions.

More sensitive data

For 'special category data', such as data concerning health and care, we require a GDPR Article 9 legal basis for processing it. As an NHS ICB, we are likely to be processing special category data under one of the following lawful bases:

(b) We need it for employment, social security and social protection reasons (if authorised by law). See this list for the most likely laws that apply when using and sharing information in health and care.

(f) We need for a legal claim or the courts require it.

(g) There is a substantial public interest (with a basis in law). See this list for the most likely laws that apply when using and sharing information in health and care.

(h) To provide and manage health or social care (with a basis in law). See this list for the most likely laws that apply when using and sharing information in health and care.

(i) To manage public health (with a basis in law). See this list for the most likely laws that apply when using and sharing information in health and care.

(j) For Archiving, research and statistics (with a basis in law). See this list for the most likely laws that apply when using and sharing information in health and care.

Please see a breakdown of the processing activities that we undertake at Appendix 1 of this Privacy Notice; this identifies the Article 9 legal basis for specific ICB functions (where applicable).

Common law duty of confidentiality

Where we hold confidential health and care information, we will only disclose this in particular circumstances; which may include:

- where you have provided us with your consent
- where we have support from the Secretary of State for Health and Care following an application to the Confidentiality Advisory Group \(CAG\) who are satisfied that it isn't possible or practical to seek consent
- where we have a legal requirement to collect, use and share the data
- for specific individual cases, where we have assessed that the public interest to share the data overrides the public interest served by protecting the duty of confidentiality (for example sharing information with the police to support the detection or prevention of serious crime). This will always be considered on a case-by-case basis, with careful assessment of whether it is appropriate to share the particular information, balanced against the public interest in maintaining a confidential health service

How do we store your personal information?

Your information is securely stored for the time periods specified in the Records Management Code of Practice. We will then dispose of the information as recommended by the Records Management Code; for example, we will:

- securely dispose of your information by shredding paper records, or wiping hard drives to legal standards of destruction
- archive your information at a secure paper records storage facility

Commissioning	Hospitals and community organisations that provide NHS-funded care must submit certain information to NHS England about the services they provide to patients. This information is generally known as commissioning datasets. The ICB obtains these datasets from NHS England and they relate to service users registered with GP practices in Somerset. The datasets include information about the service users who have received care and treatment from those services that NHS Somerset ICB is responsible for funding. These datasets are then used in a format that does not directly identify you, for wider NHS purposes such as managing and funding the NHS, monitoring activity to understand and plan the health needs of the population, and to gain evidence that will improve health and care through research. The ICB is unable to identify you from these datasets. They do not include your name, home address, NHS number, post code or date of birth.	To help us understand the health and care needs of our patient population, so that we can plan and buy services to meet those needs.	6(1)(e) – Public task	9(2)(h) – Provision of health systems and services
